Theme

In presenting to you the Aitchpe of 1945, during which time a most devastating war has thrown the world into havoc and ruin, we search within ourselves and our activities to find the real meaning of service.

Service is something which is required of us the moment we are born. Perhaps few of us realize this, but it is true. When we are small, the duties which we perform are termed "favors." As we advance through elementary school, and to high school, these "favors" continue to multiply in number and importance until we finally realize that we are no longer doing favors, but services.

Many have gone through life thus far unconscious of service, its meaning, and what service requires of us. This war is largely responsible for making us more mature in our outlook on life. It has made us stop, think, and wonder.

We are surrounded by signs of service: our classmates leaving us to join the armed forces, our pupils bringing armfuls of waste paper to school, and contributing to the books for servicemen's collection in the school library.

Our teachers and fellow students have also continued in an earnest effort to maintain the high scholastic standard and our division minutemen are constantly on the job to keep our stamp and bond sales above par.

In spite of competition with jobs and the war psychology, we are still giving our spare time to help others and to bring this war to a victorious end.

Dearest Kathy;
We never seem to get along, but I still think you a really swell kid. Happenings and success always!

Dedication

"Let me find it in my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,
This is my work, my blessing, not my doom;
O all who live I am the only one
Who can do this work in the right way."

In the life of Miss Beulah I. Shoesmith the hopes and aspirations expressed in these lines by Abraham Lincoln were fully realized. After thirty-five years of earnest and conscientious effort as an outstanding teacher of mathematics, she is now retiring, with the fullest respect and most sincere devotion of almost three generations of Hyde Parkers who have had the good fortune to receive their training under her.

Hers could be called "meritorious service beyond the call of duty," for she spent several extra hours after her regular working day, helping students over their difficulties, bolstering the weak, and further encouraging the strong.

There was not a moment of dullness; for she possesses that saving grace, a keen sense of humor, which she frequently injected into her class discussions. Moreover, she has that rare ability of making clear and simple that which previously had seemed beyond comprehension.

Thus she has contributed to the enviable scholastic reputation of Hyde Park.

For her outstanding ability and leadership, for her sincerity and fairness, for her never-failing helpfulness and understanding, this 1945 Aitchpe is respectfully dedicated.

MARKO GIANNOPULOS

The boy of the year
Is the one that we cheer
In our book, that's the talk of the town
He's well-liked by all, both the short and the tall.
And boy! What a whiz, when he handles that ball

King of Aitchpe

He's a wonderful "guy"
And Marko's his name.
He surely has earned his widely-known fame.

A gym teacher to be if all goes well;
Quiet blonds, in his mind, sure ring the bell.

He's five feet six, with eyes that shine.
There's something about him that's true and fine.

He likes Welsh chicken, June Havier and such,
But basketball is the sport he loves so much.

His friends call him the "Gallopig Greck"
And all the girls run to get just a peek
'Cause he's the idol of all the girls
From those with short bobs, to those with long curls.

So now Hyde Parkers will loudly sing
The praises of Marko, our Aitchpe King.

ANITA HECHT

Your choice for queen is a girl so sweet
That everyone says she can't be beat:
The boys all whistle when she walks by,
Or else they give a long, deep sigh

She's full of personality right down to her toes,
And she's always followed wherever she goes.
She goes in for rhumba, and jive steps to boot,
And about her you'll hear people say, "She's cute."

Sailing and swimming are what she loves,
They say she is tops in all that she does.
From Blue Mask to tumblers, from cheerleaders to queen,
Our little Anita is sure on the beam

She likes Van Johnson and Turhan Bey
And she'll be an actress on her own some day.

Now we've told you enough about this girl
so keen,

So now hail Anita, our Aitchpe Queen!

Educational Administration

Educational

Administration

Here they are! Our industrious faculty who guide us through our four years of high school. Headed by Mr. Joseph F. Gonnelly, principal, and his assistants, Mr. John R. Specht at the Main and Mr. Ira Van Hise at the Branch, Hyde Park runs smoothly under its unique system of educational administration.

The grade advisers, who Mr. Gonnelly regards as assistant principals, do a remarkably fine job. It is their duty to counsel with students who are delinquent in any of their studies or attendance and set them right before real trouble begins. Harsher methods may be used by Miss Whelan, head of the newly re-organized attendance office. She keeps an eagle eye on everyone, especially the "early dismissals" and the "tardies."

The north office never fails to accomplish what it sets out to do. Directly across the hall is the south office where the school's important records are filed.

The 4A adviser has a hard but pleasant job to perform. The senior class "prom" gifts, and graduation formalities are just a few of the many tasks which are accomplished.

While Miss Buckley in the adjustment office handles all mental testing of pupils, Mr. Fisher in the placement office contacts outside firms for jobs in which he places many Hyde Park students.

The financial department, treasurer, and box office, handles all money, while the book-room acts as the depository for texts.

MR JOSEPH F GONNELLY

His tall, spare, frame, his snow-white hair and his purposeful stride all proclaim him for what he is—Mr. Joseph F. Gonnelly, principal of Hyde Park High School. The word principal means many things; director of the faculty, head of the business department, and director of school affairs. So far so good. But Mr. Gonnelly has added something more to the title.

To hundreds of Hyde Parkers it has come to mean also a friend. "Papa Joe" likes to know about the student, as well as about what he does. It is no uncommon sight to see him cheering our football or basketball teams, in defeat as well as in victory. And when, in his powerful voice, he speaks to the students at assemblies, you may be sure that he's heard with attention and respect.

Visiting servicemen often "drop in" on him, and he likes to talk and joke with them. When, on rare occasions, he appears proudly escorting his wife, there is universal satisfaction and pride. But it is always gratifying to know that Hyde Park is represented by a man like Mr. Gonnelly. Whether commanding or commending, Mr. Gonnelly is in every way the commander-in-chief of Hyde Park.

MR. IRA VAN HISE

"Sufficient be it unto the day." The Branch may be small as compared to the Main, but it still keeps Mr. Ira Van Hise, its principal, busy every period of the day and then some. Besides keeping an eye on the affairs of the school and the executive staff, he has to take care of business affairs.

Seeing a new batch of freshies every six months is perhaps a trying sight. However, Mr. Van Hise is doing a good job of reconstruction. Getting the freshies accustomed to the new and higher standards of high school life, Mr. Van Hise, who is well-liked, does everything possible to make the Branch a pleasant place to attend.

The Branch is so small that everyone knows practically everyone else. It's really almost a family affair. But even a family has troubles, and it is a rare sight to see Mr. Van Hise patting (so to speak) a weeping mother on the shoulder. Ah, me!

Like Atlas, Mr. Van Hise bears the weight of the world on his shoulders.

"After the night cometh the dawn and all shall be peace ever after." From this famous quotation a most important factor of human nature can be learned. It is the inevitable truth that time waits for no one. With this in mind, Mr. John R. Specht was appointed assistant principal of Hyde Park. He has behind him an outstanding record, showing to the utmost his ingenious adaptation for organization, and though he has been here but three years, he has proved beyond a shadow of doubt his capability as to the aforementioned qualifications.

As assistant principal, Mr. Specht keeps close watch on all school affairs to see that everything runs along smoothly. He is in charge of the grade advisers and helps them to correct any deficiencies in delinquent students. This may seem quite simple to the casual passerby, but much time, work, and effort are spent in preparation for adjustments.

In closing, one may say that the position of assistant principal is well filled.

NORTH OFFICE HELP

If an efficient, business like atmosphere aids in giving visitors a good impression of Hyde Park executive headquarters, we certainly must be flooded with compliments. At the outer North Office busy receptionists and messengers are always on hand during office hours eager to help.

SOUTH OFFICE

Stop! Quiet! Hush—you are now entering the sacred domain of our illustrious assistant principal, Mr. John R. Specht. In this sanctuary, record of each student in the school are kept. From its walls many important decisions come forth.

Classes

Up, up, up you go—to your locker in the sky. Lovingly you caress your all steel, pre-war, combination lock, that sticks if you are a half point off but flies open when someone brushes against it.

Hurriedly you grab for your lunch, which you had carefully placed on your shelf, but a mysterious odor emanates from the paper parcel. It is your lockermates baloney. In haste, you search the crowded floor and your lunch emerges at last from one of your L.M.'s galoshes.

At this point you notice that one-half of Van Johnson's face is missing but gleefully you note that Frankie is intact.

With dignity you stoop to retrieve your Spanish book which fell while you were contemplating Frankie and all your homework papers fly over the hall, to be trampled by determined, division bound, Hyde Parkers. A pug-nosed sophomore, in search of a companion helps you gather them and the bell rings as you throw them in the locker and slam the door

Dashing breathless into division, you sink into your seat, only to discover that your purse is locked in, with your Spanish papers and the pug nosed sophomore.

But even the seniors who do most of the ordering, can recall vividly the many hectic years which they spent as a lower classman; running to classes, gulping down lunches, shrinking back from the mighty seniors of their day

SPRING 4B CLASS OFFICERS — B. Allweiss, vice-president; N. Richardson, commissioner; R. Brown, secretary; G. Beres, president

JANUARY CLASS OF 1946

"There's a long, long trail awinding," but as Confucius didn't say, "all that has a beginning must surely have an end." So here they stand, nearing the station at which they will have to transfer to another train and follow a new path through life—the Senior Graduating Class of January, 1946. Alas and alack, this class which first met here at High Park in 1942 has shrunk and diminished, as do so many classes. However, it may be said that those remaining are truly deserving of admiration and honor—persevering, strong, willing and able to work to attain their goal—Education. But enough of that, for surely everyone realizes the greatness of the Seniors and accords them all due honors. Instead turn back the years and look over the events and accomplishment that accompanied their ascent to Seniority.

As freshmen, they were like all others—bewildered, anxious to please, and lost in the blundering way puppies have. Then before they were aware of it, they were sophomores—so wise, so sure of themselves, and so foolish in these beliefs. In their Junior year, they at last began to grow up—they started to look around, to question and generally poke their noses into everything. Then the fulfillment of years of study and work, and lo! They were Seniors. Oh what fun in their last semester. But fun must have hard work behind it, and those on the committees surely do work hard. From the rollicking class day, the dignified prom, and commencement exercises, the work of all the different committees are shown in full splendor. The end of the long, hard trail draws near as the Class starts preparing for the goal that they started out for. Commencement!

They had come a long way, but they will start on a much longer and harder one. They will do very well being what they are. The best of good luck and success to you, Graduates of January, 1946.

The results of the present study are in line with the findings of other studies that have shown that the use of a single, standardized, and validated instrument can be used to assess the quality of life of patients with a variety of chronic conditions. The results also suggest that the use of a single, standardized, and validated instrument can be used to assess the quality of life of patients with a variety of chronic conditions.

Act 10 Team

Activities

Activities

Are you looking for the road to success that holds some work, and much fun? If you are, you just have to join some of the many activities at Hyde Park

If you are planning to be a radio star, a technician, or even a second Einstein, there is a place for you in one of the numerous clubs of our school. If you are planning to be any other kind of a person such as a swimmer, a literary genius, or even a socialite, there is also a place waiting for you.

Freshmen, often you have the idea that these activities are only for upper classmen. Well, you can stop thinking that right now. If you are or have the resemblance of a human being, all of the clubs welcome you with open arms.

Most of the clubs do not meet every day, so don't use the excuse that you can't spend the extra time in school.

Just run your finger up and down the long list with your eyes closed. Stop at one of them and join now. Education can be fun, and it sure is when you are learning in one of the activities.

Give it a try. You will find that you are missing something very vital to your school career unless you join.

The experience gained from membership will be of great value to you in the future.

The time is now! Join the club that you like best. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors too, come on, have fun.

AITCHPE

Ten cents per day for typing paper alone. Add to this broken fingernails, unfinished home work, nerves shot to pieces and blood-shot eyes. Measure out Miss Leitch and a lot of blunt pencils. Mix well, and what do you think you will get? Why, your 1945 Annuals of course! As Noah alone escaped from a sinful world, so the Annual, as symbol of friendship, fun, and work, emerged from the chaos and confusion of unconnected future copy and pictures. Everyone worked long and hard and here is the result for you to view. The Aitchpe Staff offers you its greetings and best wishes.

WEEKLY

"Hey! Where's galley number two?" "Who is the Sports editor?" "Oh, Miss Byrne!" Such journalistic remarks may be heard issuing from room 149 where the Weekly is hatched. If a curious passerby should step into this room, he would find an efficient team of journalists writing, pasting, proofreading, rewriting, carefully referring to their style books and occasionally to back issues of Esquire.

But all is not dull routine. Many good times are had on this publication.

So, congratulations, Miss Marguerite Byrne, for your fine sponsorship and here's hoping you make "pacemaker."

SIGMA EPSILON Faculty Advisor: Miss Beulah Shoesmith L. Ford

SIGMA EPSILON

With much hard work and a little "apple polishing" you too might become a Sigma. Those few selected "brain children" who roam the halls of H. P. with a square gold pin on their sweaters, just didn't happen to pick it up. They worked hard to obtain an 'A' or better average in their majors and a "G" or better in their minors, so that they might come into the ranks of the "looked-up-to-Sigmans."

Sigma Epsilon was organized in 1919 under the supervision of Miss Agnes Stuart. The club was then and still is based on scholarship and encouragement of earnest endeavors in one's work. The club meets once a month in the "Social Room" where many interesting and exciting parties are held.

For many years Miss Beulah Shoesmith has been the faculty advisor. It is under her guidance, and the help of the officers that make Sigma one of the best liked organizations at school today.

So fellow students, there is something really worthwhile for which to work. We'll be seeing you at the next meeting of S. E.

PYTHAGOREANS

Every morning in 226 during first period you will find the senior mathematical whizzes working away with awe under their favorite and original founder, Miss Beulah Shoemith.

In the spring of 1944 it won first place for the third consecutive year in the competition mathematical contest at Wilson College.

EUCLIDEANS

This club meets in room 144 first period. It is the junior math honor society.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Shull the members have solved many intricate problems. Join Euclidean, and start on the long road of becoming a mathematician. It won't be easy but it will be fun.

JUNIOR ENGLISH HONOR

Junior English Honor meets during first period in room 141, or in the Social Room to browse into literature that cannot be covered in the regular classwork and to improve their creative writing. This semester the group has enjoyed working on some of the works of Shakespeare, "Midsummers Night Dream" being one of the works.

JUNIOR ENGLISH TUTORS

Under the capable supervision of one of Hyde Park's outstanding English teachers, Miss Paine, the Junior English Tutors continue to assist those students who lack proper English background. This assistance has helped many Hyde Parkers to obtain better grades, not only in English but also in their other subjects.

SENIOR ENGLISH HONOR

One of the finest honor clubs at Hyde Park is Senior English Honor, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Kirby. The club's activity varies from reading the great classics to the folk music and stories of the Middle West. Excursions to various libraries throughout the city are also on their schedule.

Next year the group hopes to meet daily. All classic lovers should join Senior English Honor immediately.

They're healthy; they're happy; and they're singing too. This last is the great requirement for membership in the Girls' Chorus, plus of course, a free and independent seventh period. Miss Churchill is the popular sponsor coaching them. If you have already heard them, you'll know why they are so popular.

MALE CHORUS

Many years have elapsed since the Male Chorus began, and with each successive year its name and popularity has increased. Miss Veronica Whelan, last September, said that the boys in the chorus were "her boys," and through her alluring personality and fondness for them, accomplished wonders.

Mr. Look what we have here, Mr Shideler!" This remark is frequently heard during the course of a Zoology Club meeting. Those pupils interested in the study of animals and their habitats, find the activities of this club amazingly "super." Mr. Shideler is this club's industrious instructor. If you are interested in animals, join now

ORCHESTRA

Under the baton of Miss Katherine Finley, the Junior and Senior Orchestras have given Hyde Park great pleasure with their classical and semi-classical program. By daily practice the musicians in the Junior Orchestra prepare themselves for professional orchestral work, and for a position in the Senior Group.

Nathan Caldwell, president of the club, accepted the trophy at a service assembly on December 8. Any one interested in radio or acting should join Radio Guild immediately.

The Blue Mask gives numerous plays during the year for the students' entertainment. Under the able guidance of Miss Hardy, this club carries on its activities in great style. It is comprised of her two dramatic classes which unendingly uphold her high standards of play production.

Worldly problems, not necessarily brain twisters, can be more clearly understood when they are presented and discussed before an interested group. Mrs. Hulda Randall offers an opportunity for 1A Hyde Parkers to gather at her home and present their thoughts on many absorbing subjects. A topic such as compulsory military training is an adequate stimulant for a heated debate. There is active response shown by the club members.

Pictured above are the "brains" of the unit. Like the spokes of a wheel the reach out from their hub, the military instructors and direct the rim, the rest of the unit. From the staff come many orders every day which direct operations in every company. They see that the cadets and officers are supplied with everything needed to make both teaching and learning easier, and see that the unit is well oiled and running smoothly.

The officers of the unit have entrusted to them a responsibility that few men can uphold. These thirty odd men must take credit or reprimands for the condition of the unit. Upon them rest the responsibility of teaching, commanding, and correcting the men under them.

Two mornings a week they go to officers school to obtain the necessary instructions about conducting their classes.

Arising early, the spick and-span cadets and officers of the first company of the day, greet their company commander with sleep-filled eyes. Yet it takes but a few minutes of close order drill to awaken them so completely that they execute each command as quickly as it rolls from the "C.O."

The cadets toss their nine pound Enfield rifles around for their morning exercise. These rifles snap into position as if they were light as feathers. They are much heavier than the wooden Victory ones that the Junior R.O.T.C. units have been using for the past several semesters. The Enfield rifles are a British made piece and are sturdy and accurate, but not quite as good as either our Springfield or Garand. The school was also issued two Garand rifles for instructional purposes and six Springfields with twenty-two chambers for rifle range practice.

COMPANY B

"Halt 1-2," are the crisp, snappy word coming from the company commander as the cadets come to a precise standstill. Watching these well-groomed cadets execute close order drill is an inspiring sight.

The ultimate purpose of all this training that the cadets have absorbed is the Federal Inspection. Once every year the United States Army Officers appointed for this purpose inspect every Junior R.O.T.C. unit in the city. These inspections which are very impressive affairs to watch are held to determine whether or not the cadets and officers have learned their lessons well. The men are quizzed on theory and are required to perform close and extended order drill. The school that comes in first is awarded a set of colors, their school and national colors. The first ten schools wear red stars on their sleeves.

Every Thursday morning the cadets and officers of the fourth period company "fall in" and prepare themselves for inspection. The military instructors then scrutinize the entire company. They are marked on neatness of their uniforms and knowledge of theory. On other days they prepare for forty-five minutes of hard work. On some occasions they practice rifle and close order drill and at times they divide into three different groups. Each of these groups then marches to a separate room. There the officers give them carefully prepared lectures on a wide variety of military subjects. For the first ten minutes of every period they have Physical Training. The cadets do certain exercises to develop good posture and others to strengthen their muscles to acquire skill in throwing their rifles around with precision and snap. These cadets have not only brains but muscles.

COMPANY D

Immediately after division the cadets of Company D wend their way with a purpose through the halls toward 153, the R.O.T.C. room. Their mouths are set in grim lines because they know that the instruction they are about to be given will help them throughout the rest of their lives. The cadets here have a great deal of fun but behind this mask is a lot of hard sweat-producing work. They realize that the training they get in the R.O.T.C. is equivalent to what the army teaches their rookies in about seventeen weeks. They know that if they enter the armed forces this training will become invaluable to them. The hardest thing for the new soldier to get used to is army discipline. This new form of living is hard to understand and harder to live under, but the R.O.T.C. cadet has already had a taste of it and is able to adapt himself to it much more readily.

The capability and efficiency of its commanding officer brought about its elevation to one of the highest positions in our R.O. T.C. unit. It would be extremely difficult to find such a company, in any other unit, performing its difficult duties in a better, smarter, or more efficient manner. The officers' voices ringing with bell-like clarity and tones of authority impel the cadets to respond immediately and perfectly. Inspection days always find the cadets in full uniform, resplendent with sparkling brass, a clean, starched, white belt and bedecked with ribbons and medals. The many interesting lectures given by the officers reflect the fact that this company not only received high grades in drill and inspections but also excellent grades in the practice and principles of military theory. This company has come up to the high standards set by the military instructors.

COMPANY F

By the time the last R.O. T.C. period of the day rolls around our military instructors are "dog tired." After a strenuous day of criticising, instructing, inspecting, and generally supervising five other companies they are in no mood to be trifled with. But after watching the cadets of this company respond to the sparkling voices of their officers a slow smile appears across their faces and they are rightly satisfied with their fine work. The cadets of the unit have benefited from new innovations this past year. Numerous instructional motion pictures, produced by the United States Army Signal Corps, were shown. These pictures illustrate many of the more difficult maneuvers and make hundreds of hard-to-explain points crystal-clear. With the coming of Corporals Hartman and Hensley the entire unit has shown a marked improvement typified by one of the best elements—Company F.

FOOTBALL—1944

Englewood, South Shore, Vocational, and Harper High School fell before the onslaught of the Blue and White in their eight 1944 football games. Against Englewood, Hyde Park was trailing 18 to 7 at the half-way mark. Overcoming this, the Tribe left the muddy field at Yates Stadium victorious over our traditional pigskin rival. In answer to South Shore's challenging 30 minute score of 12 to 0 the Redmen attacked with new found vigor. The offensive started and the Tribe rolled up a 14-12 victory. Parker took the league opener 26-13. Under the nightlights Calumet, showing plenty of power, stopped Hyde Park cold. The Indians next encountered the Fenger Titans. Fenger, whose team became the 1944 South Section Champions, was held at seven points for the first 30 minutes, but when the power was turned on in the second half, the Fengerites plunged to a 27-0 victory. Hyde Park forgot that Vocational was the newcomer to the league and left the kid gloves home. Lionel Gaffins' touchdown, a 55-yard run from a pass interception was the high point, and Jim Fuch's three touchdown runs were not the best way to make a stranger happy. Hyde Park trampled Harper 20-6. A 60 yard Harper pass at the start of the game was responsible for the "6" in this score, but the team recuperated and gave their coach, Elliott Hason, a victory for their final game. The Redmen took seventh place in the South Section by chalking up four wins and four losses.

Three men on a ball!

With 225 pounds of muscle to back him up, JIM BYLEK, Hyde Park's powerhouse, goes to town. Jim who is seventeen, is a graduating senior. During his days at Hyde Park he's won six major letters, two each in football, swimming and track. At Buffalo High in Indiana he's credited with major letters in basketball and baseball. Along with this athletic record he has also made Sigma

He won the coach's award for fine playing and hopes in the future to become a superior football coach. He has been president of our Male Chorus and a Letterman, and has worked hard during his days at Hyde Park to uphold its high traditions.

Hiding bashfully behind his famous jersey, JIM FUCHS, Hyde Park's football hero scampers over the field. His accomplishments on the team have been many for the past three years. He has received four major letters, two in football and two in track. He is still going strong! When he was a junior he won the one-hundred yard dash and the two-twenty. As a senior he took the one-hundred and the shot-put. He has been captain of our track team and co-captain of the 1945 football team.

As outside activities, he enjoys bowling. Jim is also a member of the Letterman's Club and A Cappella.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The senior quintet started on the right track this year by winning six out of the eight pre league practice games. Paced by the "hot shoes" of Captain Marv. Ellis, the Blue and White opened the right of way for their attack on the Public League circuit. The Inglewood five were the first to be sidetracked when they failed to break up Coach "Henrie" Schultz's smooth operating scoring combinations. Hirsch and Morgan Park were the next to be encountered, and they were both sent back to the roundhouse for repairs leaving the cagers with a record of three wins and no defeats in the league standings thus far.

The Hyde Parkers next entered into a duel with South Shore—the last 1944 state finalists. In the early minutes of the game South Shore hooped a series of baskets and kept this lead throughout the first three quarters. Then, in the middle of the fourth quarter with only a few minutes to play, the Indians, through a series of brilliant interceptions and quick baskets brought the game to a dramatic tie. The crowd which was packed into the gym and adjoining corridors, went completely wild. Both teams were fighting with all they had and as the minute hand of the timer pointed due north the Seahawks were ahead, the victors of this match.

In the next game, the Hyde Park sportsmen squelched Fenger. After this game the mentor of the Blue and White had to revamp his lineup as Myron Chapman, a pivot man for the team, left for the Navy and Marv Ellis, Mel Adams, and Irving Bloom mid-year graduates. The seniors then attacked Blue Island in a non-league clash and proved their merit with a 34-28 score.

The 1945 senior team was a squad of hard working, hard fighting athletes. The Blue and White took fourth place in the South Section, entitling them to their city play-off where they were eliminated by Lindbloom, 51 to 24.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

The Hyde Park Juniors showed great ambitions for the 1945 season. Most of the members of the squad this year were also members of last year's city finalists. Before the Public League Contest started the Hyde Park quintet warmed up and polished their fast moving, quick-breaking offensive with six pre-season games of which the lightweights won three and lost three. During this time the cagers perfected their playing technique, putting in a bid for more scoring and speed.

The first league encounter was with Englewood High. The Blue and White gave a preview of their future performances by submerging Englewood 51 to 18. In the next game which was played against Hirsch, Captain Marko Giannopoulos joined the team, adding great strength with his record-breaking performances. After the Hirsch victory, Hyde Park trampled Morgan Park with one of the largest scores chalked up by any team in the Public League.

The closest victory for the junior five was South Shore's last minute rally which brought it within one basket of victory.

The Lightweights next subdued the Fenand Harper quintets. In between these games the cagers tilted Blue Island 29 to 25 in a non-league clash.

The Juniors were not only able to roll up one of the highest, if not the highest score of the season, but also showed great strength defensively by holding down the opponents' scores. The fast rate that Elliot Hasan's basketweavers traveled speeded the juniors into section championship. They went on to the quarter-finals in the city playoffs defeating Farragut and then losing to Tilden in the final.

TRACK

Yes, under the capable leadership of Mr Elliot Hasan the track team has won many interscholastic trophies, for relay races, high and low hurdles, shotput, dashes etc

Many tiring hours are spent after their regular school day practising the simple fundamental principles of track

The boys never shirk doing any of the required work for they know that it is this preliminary training which will give them that extra "umph" that wins the race

CHESS AND CHECKERS

Stop! Look! Concentrate! That is the procedure of each member of the Chess and Checker teams as they unfearingly move their men from one space to another

These teams, comparatively unknown to the average Hyde Parker, have brought honor and recognition to our school. They afford an outlet for excess mental energy as the game teaches one to concentrate and think, not only of his next move but of plays which require the movement of many pieces.

The followers of "Der Bingle" are not more enthusiastic and faithful to "The Crooner," than the Lettermen are to their deities — "Sports" and "Sportsmanship." Having kept their eyes on the goal and followed the way faithfully, the Lettermen have at last arrived at the prize—membership in the Aitchpe Tribe. As a letter is an honor won with sweat and toil; it is the more precious. Each member of the Tribe is like a little sun, worshipped, admired and liked by numerous followers. Here is a "Rick-Tick" for the Tribe!

Varsity Mothers began twelve years ago in the form of an emergency meeting after an unfortunate Christmas vacation when the football team's equipment was stolen. At this first meeting the mothers guaranteed one thousand dollars for uniform and equipment. From this time on, the organization has flourished under the superb sponsorship of Coach Eliot Hasan.

The first big event of the year is the fathers and sons' dinner. Later on the boys invite their mothers to one basketball game. The year usually ends with a grand card party at the Plaisance Hotel.

"I love" that game. Hyde Park tennis enthusiasts involuntarily flex a muscle in anticipation of their weekly games. The girls compete in tournaments, singles and doubles, and gain healthful exercise and relaxation, even though building up their gym shoes for an awful retread. Anyone with a ball, racket, or tennis court is welcome to try out for the team. Exercise can be fun by playing tennis.

Keep your drippy old tank suits! One day a year (when the photographer is here), these elite Hyde Parkers, life-saving club members, may don their flashiest beach attire, and impress us with their form, in and out of water. They are the girls who carry on Hyde Park's swimming traditions in great style. Miss Staeling has taken over the team. So come on girls, the water's fine.

Branch

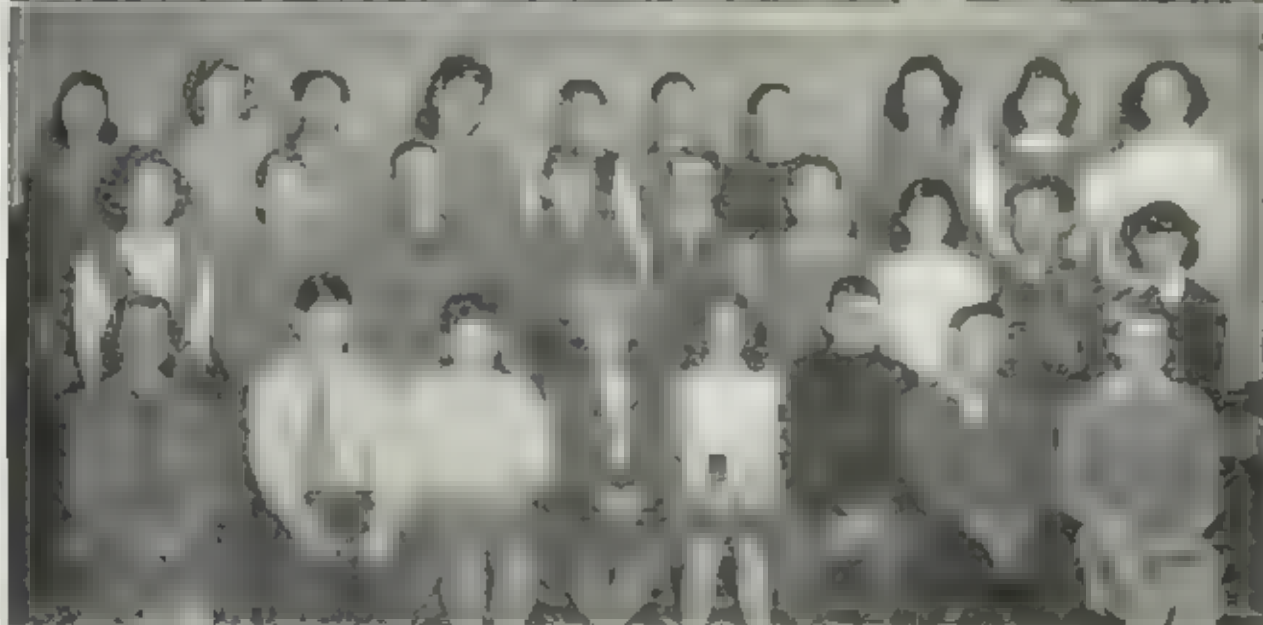

Oh joy! And now we have left all turbulent classes, halls, etc., and cast our eyes with relief and fervor to the arm—or leg, if you please—of this great and magnificent edification erected to the worship of knowledge, mainly the Branch, located at Kenwood and 57th.

At the Branch, under the wise, patient, and all seeing eyes of the grand Pasha, Mr. Ira Van Hise, hundreds of freshies peacefully and more or less innocently wend their various and devious educational routes. They work diligently not only in their classes, but in the Drama club, under Mrs. Terry, and, under Mr. Van Hise studying and directing the management of the Branch in their roles of Boosters. They also belong to the famous Branch Orchestra, under Mrs. Curtis, and help Miss Kirby in the library. It is surprising to note how many of the freshies and freshmen collect civic points and sigma pins at the Branch. Also, that almost one hundred per cent of the girls there are members—and working members of the G.A.A. Maybe it's the atmosphere, but, however that may be, ambition is truly a wonderful thing.

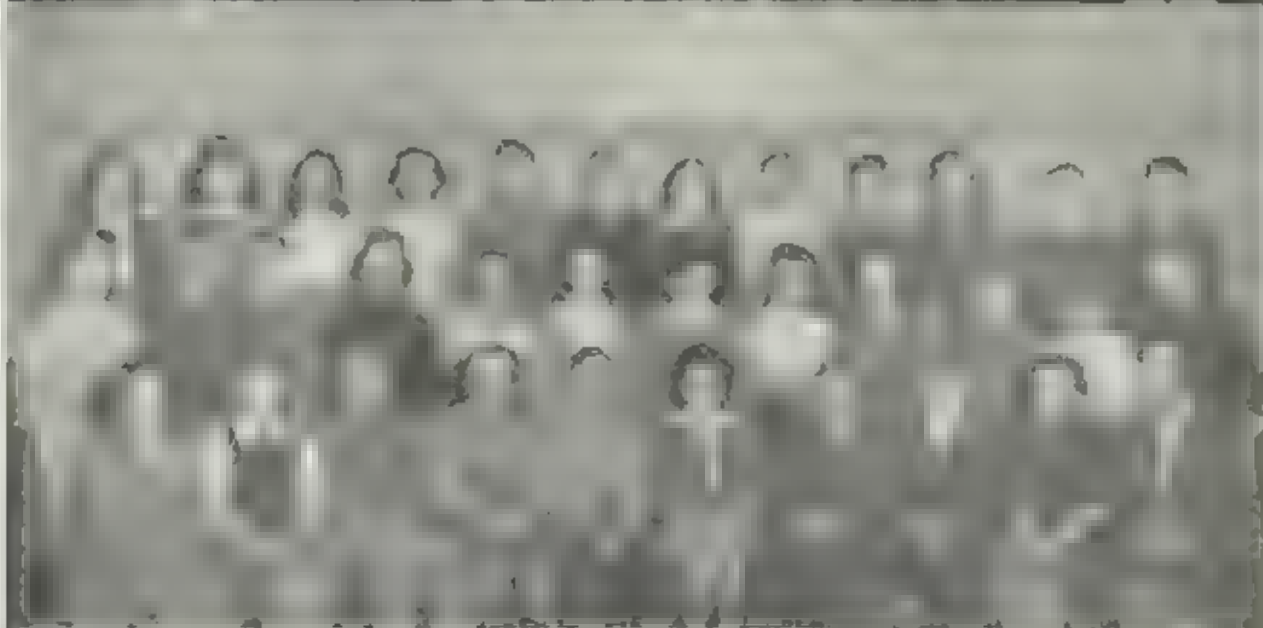

It is worthwhile to glance at the war effort put forth at the Branch. There's always some sort of a drive on, and it is invariably successful. School spirit is high, and it has often been noted that Branchites are nice to have around. The Branch is indeed the home of much brotherly love, peace, and freshmen.

Business Administration

"Stone walls do not a prison make," nor the faculty the school. Do you think that's funny? Just the same, it's true. Why, just how long do you suppose Miss Finley could teach music if the whole class was shivering? And how long would any classes, for that matter, keep going if the students went unfed and uncared for? Ah, you are catching on. Yes, it is the business maintenance that does it.

Start with the lunchroom, managed by Mrs. Cassel. Everybody at one time or another, makes some kind of a "kick" about the lunchroom, but you don't ever think what ten types of an uproar there would be if it were closed down. In spite of all that has been said and done, the lunchroom is a good place to eat. It deserves a big vote of thanks.

Next, we come to the maintenance under Mr. Charles Clarke, Custodian. Hyde Park is kept clean, in good running order, and generally a pleasant place in which to spend a school day. Most people take things like proper heating, ventilation, and cleanliness as a matter of fact. It is not so. But then, who wants a world managed by cold machinery?

Last, but not least, are the matrons. It is no little thing for the girls to have someone to take care of them and comfort them. If they are under the weather, they care for them. This is psychological as well as physical. And so, all in all, it is three thousand cheers for Maintenance!

BRANCH LUNCHROOM STAFF

Don't push, don't crowd, there's plenty of food for everyone, and plenty of time to eat it—if you've mastered the dubious art of getting to the lunch room in time. The small, is beneficial and quite sufficient for those Freshies.

HYDE PARK LUNCHROOM

The Hyde Park Lunchroom is just the place to go for a healthy lunch. With Mrs. Cassell, a busy and efficient person, rushing to and fro, the lunchroom does a booming business, four hectic times a day.
